

Kimberly Rill

The Pennsylvania State University – Biotechnology

Current Employer:
Eli Lilly and Company

Job Title:
Pharmaceutical Sales
Representative

Kimberly is currently one of the top performing Pharmaceutical Sales Representatives for Eli Lilly. She grew up in Mahopac, NY about an hour North of New York City. Kimberly attended James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Virginia where she earned a BS in Integrated Science and Technology with a concentration in Biotechnology. After graduating from JMU she started graduate school at Penn State in the Professional Science Masters - Biotechnology program. Kimberly accepted an internship with Agilent Technologies in Wilmington, DE while completing her degree at Penn State, and was hired as a full time employee after graduation as a Support Sales Specialist for the Life Sciences and Chemical Analysis division within Agilent. Kimberly accepted her current role with Eli Lilly two years ago. She was the number 1 sales rep in the country for six straight months, bringing her territory from the bottom of the nation to the top. Kimberly spends her spare time riding and showing horses, exploring New York City, and listening to live music.